

Helping you recruit from

logistics X

There are over 130 universities in the UK many of which hold Careers' Fairs several times a year. These represent great opportunities for your company to recruit from a pool of the brightest and most ambitious people in the country.

Geography students are among those most likely to consider a career in Logistics!

Typical sectors that exhibit at these fairs include: Finance, Engineering, Forces, Legal, Accountancy, Government, Volunteering, Power, Banking, Retail and Healthcare, but with so much to offer graduates and post-graduates, there is no reason why Logistics shouldn't also become a permanent fixture at these events.

Exhibiting costs will vary, but as an example, if you were to book a stand at Swansea University in October 2011, it would cost £250+VAT including advertising, facilities, buffet and a student to help man the stands.

Most fairs take place over one day and during October.
